If you're searching for a super-modern and sophisticated mansion, look no further than this breathtaking modern villa. Designed by the renowned architect Joaquin Torres, this architectural masterpiece is perched on the foothills of Sierra Blanca, surrounded by natural greenery overlooking the Mediterranean Sea. The villa, exudes contemporary elegance and practical appeal, setting a new standard of architectural refinement and creative excellence in Marbella. Boasting 3,152m2 of living space, with spacious rooms that are modern and impressive yet cozy and inviting.

This eco-friendly luxury villa boasts a range of high-end features including a dining room with custom furniture, six en-suite bedrooms, a sleek Poggenpohl kitchen, an office, a guest apartment, glass wine cellar, a luxurious spa with a sauna, steam bath, cold bath, gymnasium and a beauty salon. The multi-car garage has a glass wall for showcasing collector cars.

Outdoors, the villa offers manicured gardens, a tennis course, a pool, and a designer catering kitchen surrounded by artwork. The centerpiece of the villa is 'The Pulse', a 15-meter steel sculpture by Belgian artist Arne Quinze, which connects different parts of the house.

This masterpiece of modern Mediterranean architecture offers mind-blowing views and proximity to all the best amenities for contemporary luxury living in Marbella.
